Dear Friends,

This week I have another very special interview (and quiz) for you – and a very important topic (and one you really need to think about for yourself).

This week Ash interviews Robyn again, and poses the question – “Is Witchcraft It's Own Religion”.

The interview is about 7 minutes long – and I agree with most of what Robyn says, but I want to give you my own thoughts in this newsletter.

First, let me say, that the subject of religion is a very personal thing... and it isn't necessary for you to look at “Witchcraft” as a religion. You can focus specifically on tapping into the Magick energies within you, and not worry about all of the religious aspects of a specific path in Witchcraft.

You see, there are over 9000 different religions in the world... and no single person has the time to go explore all of them.

I believe it all boils down to “feeling” what is right for you. I know that sounds vague, but let me explain....

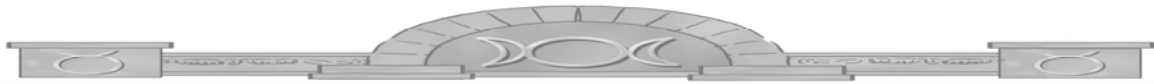

I have visited various places of worship from Catholic churches to Buddhist temples. I never felt completely comfortable in any of these places, and I never knew why.

I discovered later, that it doesn't matter why... and that the only thing that matters is that I find something to believe in that touches my soul – and who I am (and aspire to be) as a person....

...that's about the same time my Grandmother introduced me to one of the oldest religions on the planet (some people argue it is THE oldest).

From the moment she began to show me the power in nature, and how it could make me feel – and the energies I could use to create miracles in my life and others – I feel in love with it.

Yes, I practice Witchcraft as a religion. I worship nature, and the God and Goddess... and other deities as well.

Does that mean you have to? No, of course not. You can still use the power of your natural Magick energies – while still practicing Christianity if you'd like.

What I am saying is whatever religious path you decide to follow – make sure it connects with your heart and soul. Don't worry about what anybody else thinks of your choices... if the practices "touch" you, jump in with both feet.

And may the world smile on you, my dear friends – no matter what you choose.

One more order of business before I bid you a "Weekend filled with Magick"....

Ash and I need to do some more interviews, so it may be a little while before a new one is posted... until then, you will continue to get my Friday Rant blog postings... we'll always be in touch!

There are still copies left of my Mastering The Magick Of Witchcraft Home Academy, and it will walk you step by step through the process of bringing focus to the Magick energy waiting inside of you. A Magickal journey of miracles await you...
